

A REVIEW OF THE PASSENGER INTERFACE

The report identified the areas within the passenger interface where attention is needed, where work is currently under way and where technology could play a part. Each aspect of the interface is considered from journey planning, information and access within the stations, to the train journey itself.

It is concluded that, although there is a need for improvement in a number of specified areas, the potential for further effective application of technology within the passenger interface is limited.